

Since our last update, as we all know, the world has changed. COVID-19 has had a devastating effect on lives, society and our industry in particular.

Right now, it is hard to imagine what the shape of the airline industry will look like during and after a recovery. As a result, we are facing into a future that will look very different to what the industry has been used to over the last 30 years.

As an industry, we need to adjust, adapt and evolve to the effects COVID-19. As a result, the Airline Pilot Club decided to launch our website earlier than planned to deliver reliable, accurate information to you and others in the industry.

” As an industry, we need to adjust, adapt and evolve to the effects COVID-19. ”

We did this because we felt that we have a responsibility to do something positive and to show some leadership. We saw the opportunity to make the Airline Pilot Club a place where trainees and aspirant pilots can use to keep updated via:

Videos

Petter and Andy have started a series of videos that aim to give you the best available information and advice. These videos feature interviews with industry leaders and analysis of the current airline situation. There are other excellent videos available on the Mentour Pilot App and Petter does regular live-streams that you can tune into.

Blog

Over the last few weeks, Andy has created a COVID 19 series, with wide ranging coverage of the current situation. We asked trainee pilots to send us questions about the current situation and Andy has dedicated a blog to answer these real-life queries. He has other topics such as how EASA is responding to the crisis, a piece on University students studying Aviation degree courses and what we can do ourselves as an Industry to improve our situation.

English Language Classes

- We have run several free English language courses. They have been a great success. These courses are still available on a twice-weekly basis. If you are interested in attending this one-lesson course, e mail us at info@theairlinepilotclub.com.
- We have also commenced a six-lesson intermediate standard English 'Aviation Communication' course. It is a short, intensive course that has been structured so that you can maintain and improve your English language skills. Throughout the course, we have mixed English language with real-life issues and situations that professional pilot would encounter on a day to day basis.

Some of what you hear and read at the moment is sobering as far as an airline pilot career is concerned. However, despite the difficulties, a way forward will become clear. The Airline Pilot Club is continuing to work to give you the best guidance and options for your future airline career.
